Hospital Doctor Rejects Theory of Other Physicians That His Wounds Were Self-Inflicted in an Apoplectic Fit

-Not Known to Have Had Any Enemies Jacob H. Thompson, exchange editor of the New York Times, was found dying early yesterday morning in his room in the St. James Hotel, at 109 West Fortystreet. Coroner Scholer and the physicians at Flower Hospital differ diametrically as to the cause of his death, which occurred at 10: 5 last night. Dr. Scholer, Dr. Fuller, Mr. Thompson's brother-in-law, and Dr. de Birmingham, the attending physician of the hotel, agree in believing that Mr. Thompson had an apoplectic stroke and that the wounds in his head which were observed by the physicians at the hospital were caused by his struggles after the beginning of the

Dr. Ralph A. Stewart, a visiting sur-men of the hospital, said yesterday in the most positive way that the injuries to Mr. Thompson must have been caused by blows and that there was no evidence that he had suffered any apoplectic stroke. There is not the slightest evidence that any one desired to injure Mr. Thompson for any

A little after 9 o'clock yesterday morning Mary Moran, a chambermaid employed in the hotel, discovered Mr. Thompson lying helpless in his room on the fifth floor of the hotel. His head lay between the corner of a bookcase and the casing of the door of a closet. The closet door was

Mr. Thompson had removed his cuffs and had laid them on the top of his folding bed, which had not been opened. There were spots of blood all around the bookcase and on the wall near his head; there were also specks of blood six feet above Mr. Thompson's head. There were no signs of a struggle; at least so the hotel people told the police later.

Dr. J. M. De Birmingham, the hotel physician, was summoned from across the street At his suggestion an ambulance was called from Flower Hospital. Dr. Strachen was the surgeon who came with the ambulance. Ly. Fuller, a manufacturer of patent foods, who married Mr. Thompson's sister, was also sent for.

Dr. DeBirmingham saw nothing except a natural death from apoplexy as an explanation. Dr. Fuller at first said that he suspected a murder. He went to the room with Coroner Scholer, Inspector Flood and the other investigators and came out saying that he was satisfied that Mr. Thompson died as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. Dr. Scholer was understood to say that he agreed and that his opinion was based on his having seen Mr. Thompson at the hospital.

Dr. Ralph A. Stewart, visiting surgeon at the hospital, who had charge of Mr. Thompson all day, said:

"It is none of our business here to make out the probability of a murder having been committed. The facts are these: Mr. Thompson was brought here very nearly dead. He had four or five cuts on the top of his head, there was the indication of a very deep fracture at the base of the skull, his larynx was dislocated and there were cuts on the outside of the throat, with marks which looked like finger marks.

"Just how those injuries could have been caused by a man who was beating his head about in an apoplectic stroke we do not know. Moreover, if Mr. Thompson's death had been caused by apoplexy he would hardly have been in convulsions all day to-day, as he was. He would have been Finally there is no symptom of apoplexy which could not as well be the symptom of wounds causing a fracture of the skull. Finally, when we asked Dr. Scholer to come ere to the hospital and to look at the man's hurte, he said that inasmuch as the men was unconscious he was not comingand that he was satisfied, anyway, that Mr. Thompson had died of apolpexy.

The police made a careful investigation.
They found that Mr. Thompson came into the hotel at a little after 10 o'clock Thursday night and was taken up to his room He showed no signs of being ill then. There was no evidence that any one had any quarrel with him. An examination of his cicthing showed that he had apparently not been robbed. Dr. Fuller, though Dr. Stewart quoted him as saying: "I do not see how this could have been the result of anything except an assault," said last evening that he was satisfied that Mr.

Thompson's hurt was caused by apoplexy. Dr. Scholer made a second examination of the rooms last night. He said that the hospital surgeons were wrong in saying that convulsions could not follow an aporictic stroke.

After Mr. Thompson's body was found on the floor an employee of the hotel found a letter which had been written and sealed, idressed to Mr. Thompson's niece, a Miss Wendell. It was mailed before the police knew of its existence. They will make an effort to find Miss Wendell to-day and ask about the contints of the note. Mr. Thompson died at 10:35 o'clock last night. Dr. Dominick, the attending surgeon, said that Mr. Thompson had at no geon, said that Mr. Thompson had at no time recovered consciousness and that everything seemed to point to the conclusion that a murder had been committed.

Mr. Thompson had lived at the St. James Hotel very quietly for the last three years. He was a bachelor. He did not drink. It was said by his friends in the Times office hat night that there was no disposition there to assert that Mr. Thompson had been murdered, but an unbounded curiosity to know what had really happened to him. Mr. Thompson had one attack of vertigo, so far as was known to his friends, about three years ago. He had no other seizures so far as was known.

As a result of these large number of cases yesterday's calendar in the Supreme Court was the largest ever known.

Altogether Justice Dowling, who was sitting in special term, had 8,235 cases on his calendar. The fifteenth district was the one from which the largest number of applications came. Counsel for The Mc-Manus, who is fighting George W. Plunkitt, wanted stricken from the rolls 1,679 names on the ground that the voters no longer lived in the district.

Justice Dowling called for affidavits for and against each application and promised that each case would be carefully considered. He said he would give his decisions as quickly as possible. As Sept. 19 is primary day, Justice Dowling will have to sit up late o'nights.

PRIMARY VOTERS RULED OUT Because They Moved From One Election District to Another.

State Superintendent of Elections Morgan received an opinion yesterday from Alexander T. Mason in regard to a generally misunderstood provision of the primary election law. The case is that of several young men who voted last November in the First Election district of the Fifteenth Assembly district, also voting the primary ballot. They now reside in the Second election district of the Fifteenth Assembly district, and believe that they should be permitted to vote at the forthcoming primary, in view of the fact that the committeemen to be elected are representative of the entire Assembly district, and not of any particular election district.

Mr. Mason in his answer said:

The electors having enrolled in the First election district of the Fifteenth Assembly district on one of the registration days last year have no right to vote at the next primary from the Second election district of said Assembly district, to which they have since moved. young men who voted last November in

The alester Fainters and Decorators Association of Philadelphia, has sent this open letter to Samuel Gompers:

Mr. SAMUEL GOMPERS, President,
American Federation of Labor, Windsor Hotel,
Philadelphia: Dear Sir: In accordance with the instructions of the Master House Painters' and Decorators' Association of Philadelphia (inc.), we hereby call your attention to the fact that a local union of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, has called a general strike throughout Philadelphia for an increase of twenty (20) per cent. In wages and for other concessions, all to take effect at once.

This strike has been called in face of the fact that an agreement duly made between the Philadelphia District Council of the Brotherhood and our association has been in force and worked under since May 1, 1905, and has to December 31, 1905, before it expires (a copy of the agreement is here handed you) and this agreement bears the signatures of the Conference Committees of both organizations, parties thereto, and we as business men and as a business association certainly expect the journeymen's association to live to this contract as we have and ser willing to live.

Our association at meeting held this afternoon also instructed the writer to inquire if the above violation of the contract or labor, agreement by the Painters' Brotherhood has the sanction and indorsement of yourself and colleagues of the Executive Board of the American Federation of Labor?

Awaiting your early and authoritative reply, we are Yourstruly, and

NEW TURN IN THE HUNT FOR A FUSION CANDIDATE.

It's a Citizens' Union Suggestion and Not Likely to Meet With Favor Among the Hearst Leaguers, Who'll Have the Chief Say-Goff Unwilling to Run.

The latest name talked of as a possible fusion candidate for Mayor is that of Charles E. Hughes, chief counsel to the insurance investigating committee. From one of the Citizens' Union members of the fusion nominating committee the information came that Mr. Hughes's name would be presented to next Monday's meeting of the committee as a man who would meet the ideals which the Cits have set for them-

Mr. Hughes is a Republican, but he is not a machine man. If his name is to be mentioned next Monday he has not been consulted about it.

The man who was responsible for springing Mr. Hughes's name explained that Mr. Hughes had come into such prominence of late that he could be expected to take the public just as Recorder Goff did when he was elected to the office he now holds on the public just as Recorder Goff did when he was elected to the office he now holds on the strength of the reputation he made as counsel to the Lexow committee.

But no matter in what high regard the Cits may hold Mr. Hughes, it is certain that he will not be the choice of the fusion nominating committee. The municipal ownership representatives are going to have pretty much their own way and, as one of their number said last night, they would not even consider any one who was not clearly on record as a disciple of the radical and populist principles which the leaguers are insisting shall be made the basis of the fusion platform.

A development in the fusion situation yesterday was the declaration by William Halpin, Odell's chairman of the Republican organization as represented by himself and Mr. Odell desired that the head of the fusion ticket should be a Democrat.

"I think it has been determined for some time," said Mr. Halpin, "that the head of the fusion ticket should preferably be a Democratif we can get a maa who will be satisfactory to all the elements in the fusion movement. The fusion campaign, you know, is to be a non-partisan one, and the Republicans in order to effect a combination against Tammany will gladly support a Democrat for Mayor."

Such a statement was not surprising to those who have followed the course of Mr.

support a Democrat for Mayor."

Such a statement was not surprising to those who have followed the course of Mr. Odell. Pack in the winter when Mr. Odell started his plan for the reforming and reorganization of the county committee it was for the express purpose of earrying the city for a Republic n candidate. Since then he has realized how small are the prospects of making good. Mr. Odell has not been heard from He promised that from the time he returned from Europe until the morning after election day he would never leave the city for a moment. Now he is avoiding New York as though it were stricken with a plague and is leaving to Halpin the disagreeal le work of explaining that all the Republicans want is to be at least part of the tail of a fusion kite.

The Municipal Ownership League people

The Municipal Ownership League people continued yesterday to talk of Recorder Goff as the most likely candidate for them to put forward next Monday. Mr. Goff has already been sounded as to whether or not he would accept a fusion nomination, and it is learned he told the delegation which saw him that he would not agree to recorded a proposal under any circumstance. consider such a proposal under any circumstances.

HE MAN OF THE HOUR

This, the first long novel by a famous writer of short stories, combines more American qualities than any book of many years. It is saturated with Americanism. It has American humor, American optimism, American vigor and above all the American ideal of love and labor. It is a concentration of American problems, especially as they are found in the Middle West. But it is no "problem novel." It is a story, first, last, and all the time-a tale that's worth the telling for its own sake and that tells itself straight through. It more nearly approaches

SHOOT FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP.

NEW JERSEY MAN LEADS AT END OF FIRST STAGE.

Capt. Price Scores 147 Out of a Possible 155-Lieut. Ranney, With 144, and Two Other New York Men in Fifty Eligible to Finish Championship Match.

SEAGIRT, Sept. 8.—The first stage of the President's cup match, which includes 200, 500 and 600 yards slow fire and 200 yards rapid fire, was shot to-day and Brig.-Gen. Bird W. Spencer and his staff handled the match so expeditiously that when the Regulars piled out of the pits at noon mess call the program for the day was finished and the riflemen had an afternoon off. To-morrow morning the fifty highest competitors will begin the second stage of this important individual match at 800 yards, to be followed by a string at ,000 yards and one skirmish run. As the winner of this match, which includes slow, rapid and skirmish fire, is the acknowledged military champion of the United States and receives in addition to the championship medal characteristic autograph letter from President Roosevelt, some fast work is down on the boards for to-morrow's final stage. At the conclusion of the first stage at noon to-day Capt. Price of the First New Jersey was top man, with a score of 147 out of a possible 155, and the ninety-six competitors who were assigned targets this morning had by the conditions of the match been cut down to the highest fifty for the second stage. Lieut. A. E. Ranney of the Seventy-first New cond man with 144 and Corpora L. Birkhart of the Marine Corps was third, with 143. The fifty high men were closely bunched, with a margin of but 14 points for the four ranges separating high and low man. With a skirmish run as the final event the chances of the low man winning out are by no means remote, and the winner has a hard task cut out for him.

Last year the ranges were confined to slow fire, but the introduction of the rapid fire and skirmish and the elimination of the superfluous 300-yard range have improved natch greatly and left no doubt that the winner is entitled to the honor of military

Tewes of New Jersey, winner of the Wim bledon cup, demonstrated his versatility as a shot by turning in the fourth highest score for the morning's firing at the short and mid ranges. Corwin and Doyle of the Seventy-first landed places in the first twenty. while Sergt. Leushner of the Seventy-fourth and Lieut. Sheppard of the Seventy-first qualified for the final stage with scores of 137 each. None of the Seventh Regimen eam competed in to-day's match. Of the leading twenty men, Ohio and Washington State had four men each, the army and New York placed three, New Jersey and the navy and the Marine Corps and Pennsylvania won the two remaining places. The conditions were not favorable universally high scores, for the light was dull throughout the morning and the wind unsteady. A brisk wind from 10 o'clock, a quarter from which the wind blew for the first time in the Sea Girt matches of 1905, kept down scores at the 200 yard range, 32 out of a possible 36 being the highest score kept down scores at the 200 vard range, 32 out of a possible 35 being the highest score made. At 500 yards Price and Tewes of New Jersey, Ranney of New York and Reese of the Fifteenth Regulars, and Sergt. Iverson of Washington scored passables. The fluctuating wind, however, made the majority of the contestants look hard to keep above centers for the distance, and the targets looked dirty in the dull light.

At 600 yards a point and three-quarters of wind was blowing from 11 o'clock and occasional lapses in its direction and force added to the piquancy of that difficult range. Ranney, however, knocked a perfect score of 35 in his seven shots, as did Fry of Ohio, and 33 was a common score. At the slow fire ranges the men shot in pairs with three relays, and when the first relay had finished at the 600 the 200 yards rapid fire was taken up. Sergt. Pierce of Washington scored 50 on the silhouette in his ten shots, followed by Burkhart of the marines and Dillon of Pennsylvania with 48. In the vernacular of the range this was 'shooting some,' for a half point left was needed to counterbalance the wind.

A curious wording in the conditions of the match in cutting the competitors for the final stage down to the highest fifty awards a money prize of $25 to the highest competitor failing to qualify for the 50. Corporal Schriver of the Marine Corps team pocketed the prize with the score of 122. As Schriver's score ran eight above centers for the four ranges an indication of the excellence of the day's work is afforded. With the run-off of the skirmish to-morrow the combined meetings of the National Rifle and the New Jersey State Rifle associations will be ended for the season, and the firing range next week will be confined to the qualifications of the New Jersey milltia. The scores of the twenty leaders in the first stage of the President's cup match follows:
